QUESTION TIME BRIEF (QTB) GREAT BARRIER REEF

QUESTION: What is the Government doing to protect the Great Barrier Reef?

KEY POINTS:

- Everything that we do as a government is about backing hard working Australian families and businesses, including those in tourism. That is why my Government is making the single largest investment ever to ensure the resilience of the Great Barrier Reef in the face of climate change and other threats.
- The Great Barrier Reef is one of Australia's most iconic natural assets, supporting 64,000 jobs and adding $6.4 billion value to the economy each year. Investing in the Reef is investing in the regional and national economy.
- Like reefs all over the world, the Great Barrier Reef is under pressure. A big challenge demands a big investment.
- My Government's game-changing $500 million investment shows we are serious about tackling these challenges and ensuring Australians and visitors from around the world can continue to enjoy the wonders of the Reef into the future.
- An important feature of this investment is our partnership with the Great Barrier Reef Foundation, which will aim to leverage additional investment from private investors and philanthropists.
- These investments will put the Reef in the best position to regenerate and remain resilient in the face of multiple threats. The package includes:
 - $200 million to address water quality by improving farming practices, improved fertiliser use and uptake of new technology and land management practices.
 - $100 million to harness the best science in reef restoration and adaption.
 - $58 million to expand efforts to control crown-of-thorns-starfish.
 - $42 million over six years and $10.2 million each year ongoing for the world-class Queensland and Australian Government Joint Field Management Program.

- $40 million to improve Reef health monitoring and reporting.
- $22 million to engage communities and Traditional Owners in reef protection.
- Together the Commonwealth and Queensland governments have committed to invest more than $2 billion in the Reef over a decade.

If asked: Why is the Government partnering with the Great Barrier Reef Foundation?

- The Foundation was established in 2000 and has a strong track record of working with diverse range of Reef stakeholders and delivering on-ground benefits to the Reef. The Foundation actively and publicly supports our Reef 2050 Plan.
- The Foundation has experience managing a diverse range of Reef projects, including saving endangered green turtles and restoring damaged reef ecosystems. They are strongly focused on investing in science to help corals adapt to a changing climate.
- The Foundation has a robust corporate and financial governance framework, overseen by a board that includes current and former CEOs, Chairs and executive officers of some of Australia's largest companies.
- The Foundation has a successful fundraising record, generating around $80 million from private and philanthropic sources for the Reef. Partnering with the Foundation provides an opportunity to leverage co-funding from non-government sources to complement the Government's investment.
- The Partnership will build on, and complement, existing efforts to implement the Reef 2050 Plan.

If asked: The Reef is dying, what's the point in spending more money on it?

- The outlook for the Reef is troubling, but far from hopeless. Many reefs remain largely unaffected by bleaching.
- This partnership will deliver real actions we can put in place now to reduce pressures and give the Reef a chance to regenerate.

~~IN CONFIDENCE~~

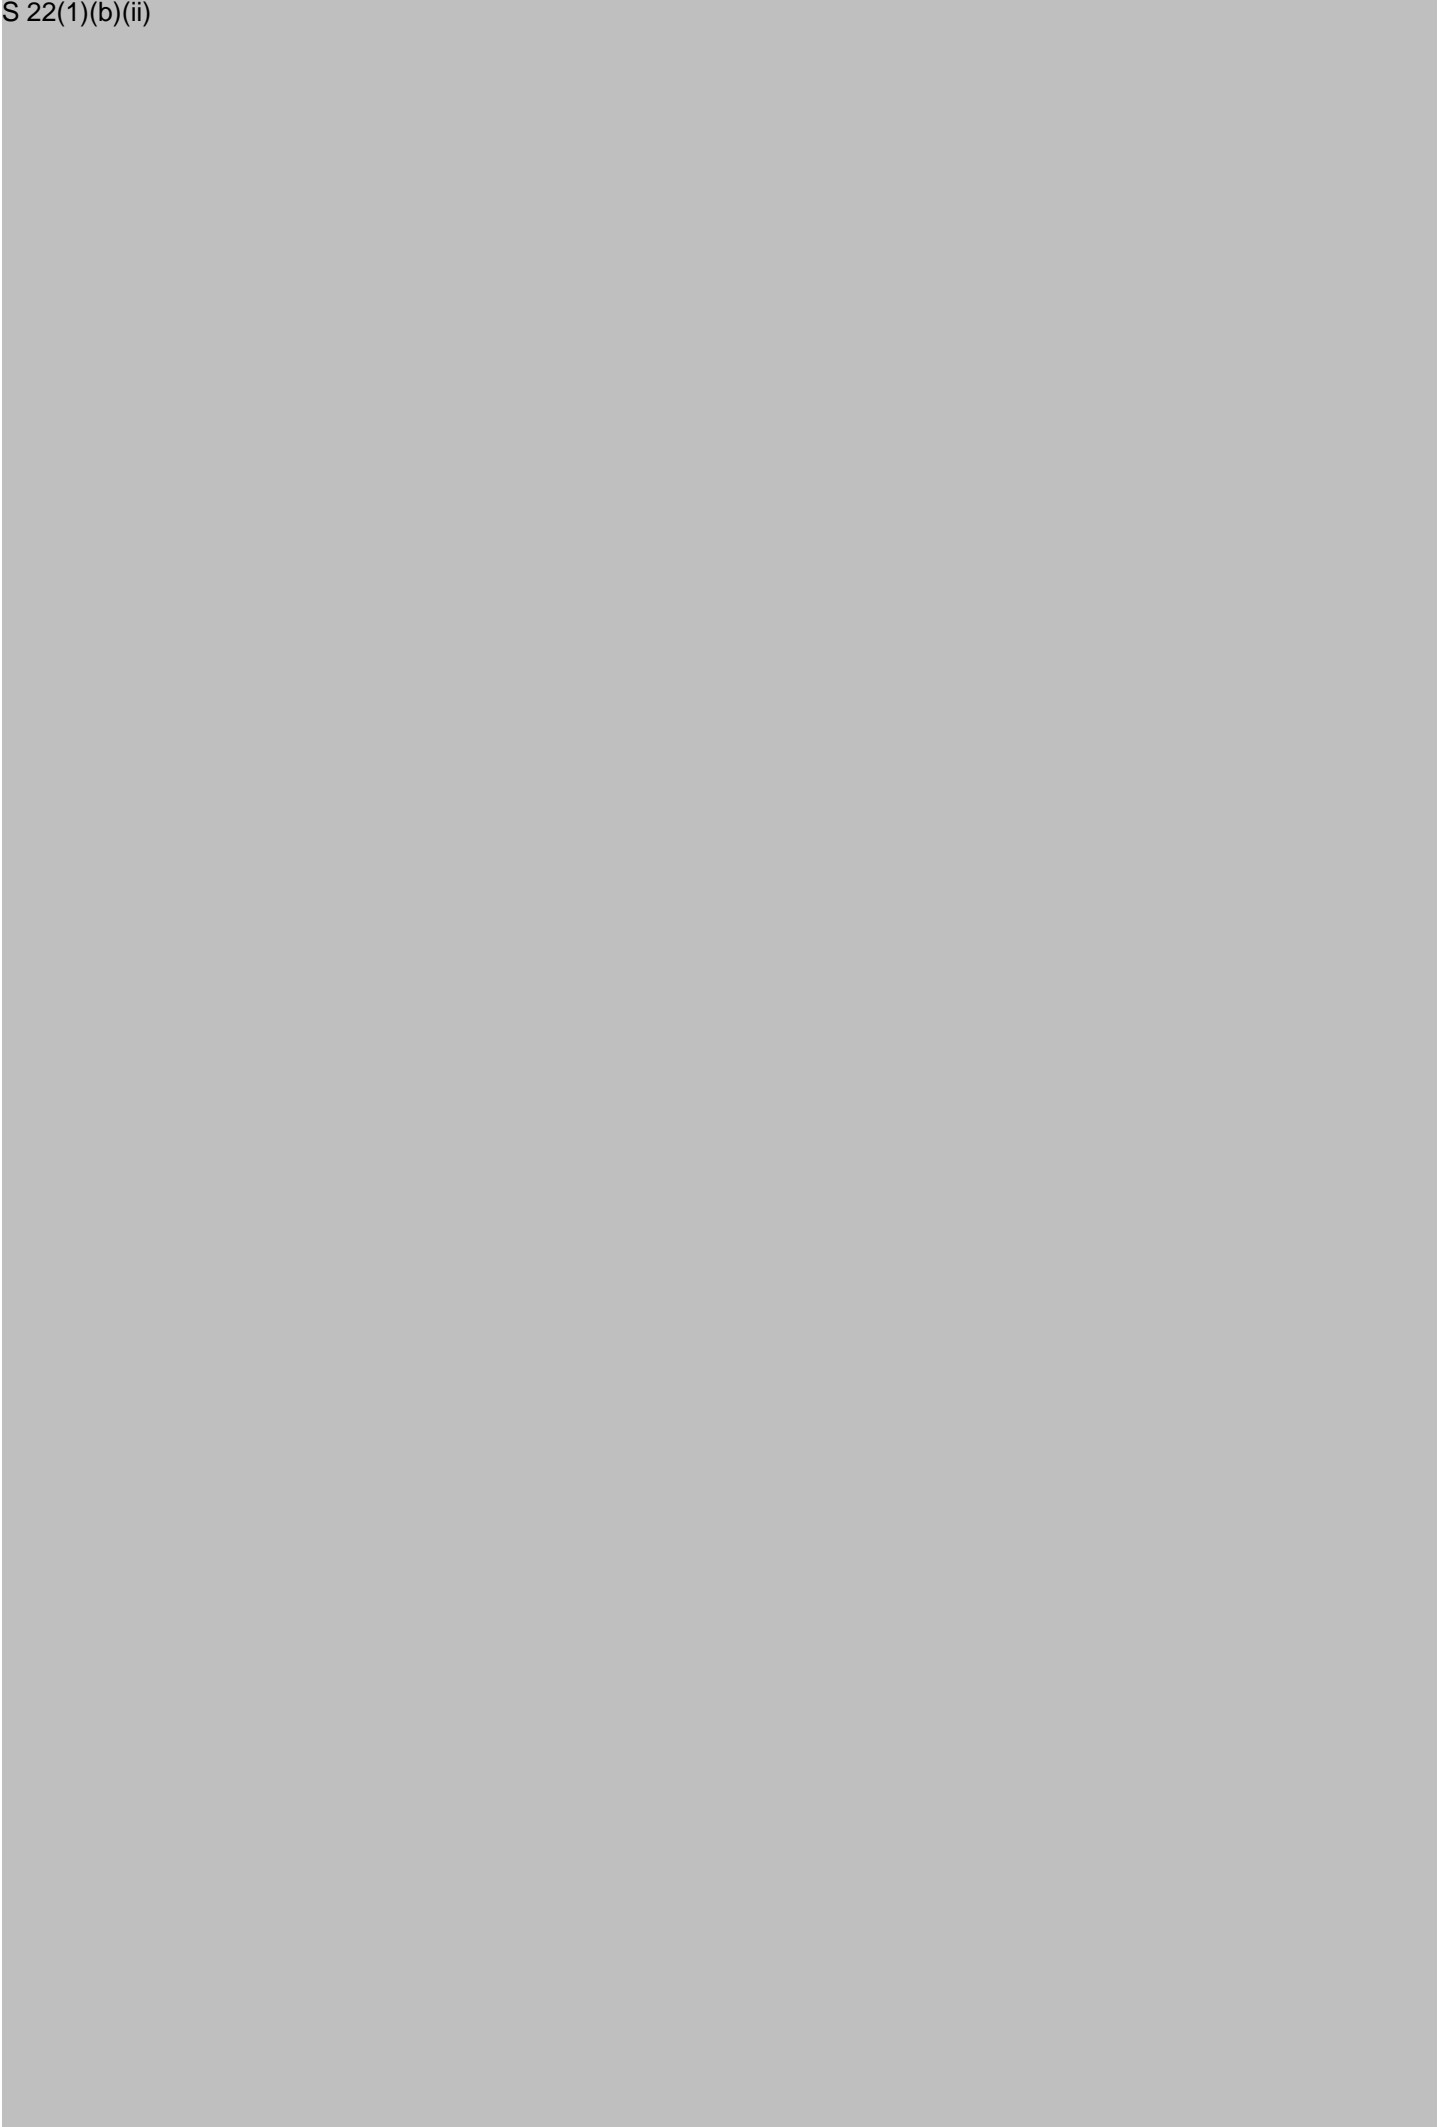

Ref: IB17-000158

- We know reefs have the capacity to regenerate. For example, in the three years prior to the 2016 bleaching event and Cyclone Debbie, coral cover increased by 19 per cent across the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park.
- We need to maximise the capacity of the Reef to survive major climate-related events like coral bleaching, while efforts to reduce global climate change are underway.
- The Reef is a critical national asset. It protects Queensland's coastal infrastructure, supports 64,000 jobs and provides $6.4 billion a year to the economy. A funding boost to the Reef is a boost to the regional and national economy.

S 22(1)(b)(ii)

BACKGROUND:

On 29 April, Minister Bishop and Minister Frydenberg announce a major injection of almost $500 million in new funding for the Great Barrier Reef. This includes:

- $200 million to address water quality by improving farming practices, improved fertiliser use and uptake of new technology and land management practices.
- $100 million to harness the best science in reef restoration and adaption.
- $58 million to expand efforts to control crown-of-thorns-starfish.
- $42 million over six years and $10.2 million each year ongoing for the world-class Queensland and Australian Government Joint Field Management Program.
- $40 million to improve Reef health monitoring and reporting.
- $22 million to engage communities and Traditional Owners in reef protection.

The announcement substantially expands on the $60 million Reef funding package you announced in January 2018 as part of a staged approach to tackle the pressures facing the Great Barrier Reef. This package included:

- $6 million for the Australian Institute of Marine Science and the CSIRO to scope and design a major R&D program for coral reef adaptation and restoration over the next 18 months, including looking at how best to leverage private investment.

~~*Not for tabling – For Official Use Only~~

~~IN CONFIDENCE *~~

Ref: IB17-000158

- $10.4 million for an all-out assault on coral-eating crown-of-thorns starfish. This will allow the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park Authority to increase the number of vessels targeting starfish from three to eight.
- $36.6 million to further reduce pollution from water entering the Reef. This builds on our success with farmers reducing soil erosion, improving on-farm nutrient management and restoring coastal and riparian vegetation in the Reef catchments.
- $4.9 million for more field officers on the water, improving compliance, and providing early warning of further bleaching and delivering more reef and island management interventions.

Deloitte Access Economics (2017) valued the Great Barrier Reef as having an economic, social and icon asset value of $56 billion. It supports 64,000 jobs (direct and indirect employment based on 2015-16 year) and contributes $6.4 billion to the Australian economy (in terms of value added GDP).

The $56 billion asset value comprises Australian tourist visits ($29 billion); value to those that haven't yet visited the Reef ($24 billion); and value derived by Australian recreational users of the Reef ($3 billion).

If asked about The Australian's claim there will be over $400 million for a Reef Rescue package in the Budget?

- My Government is committed to looking after the Great Barrier Reef as demonstrated by our actions and investments so far.
- I am not going to comment on speculation about the Budget.

BACKGROUND:

On 27 April, the Australian published an article foreshadowing a more than $400 million rescue package for the Great Barrier Reef. Further funding for the Reef has not been officially announced yet, but will be in this range. The major feature of the new funding is that it will be delivered through the Great Barrier Reef Foundation, this aspect of the proposal is not public yet.

Hi Paula

Please see attached FYI. Overall a good news story. A few key things to note:

- Likely to be an announcement soon. The date in the brief has since changed I believe S 22(1) will come in over the top if I'm wrong) and they are now looking at Friday 4-Saturday 5 May or thereabouts. This may move again though, will keep you posted. We are already doing prep-work on the announcement and will raise with S 22(1) tomorrow.
- I'm pretty happy with where the collaboration principles have landed. They take a strong stand on managing ramp-up risk (particularly expertise, governance, fraud control and WHS) and this will flow through into the grant agreement itself.
- The principles also have a strong focus on linking the Foundation's activities to the Reef 2050 apparatus, existing reporting mechanisms and flag a strong role for DEE and GBRMPA to assist with capacity building and delivery.

Following the PM and Frydenberg's meeting with Schubert, Josh F and John Schubert called Finn Pratt to work up the next steps. I sat in on both as did S 22(1)(b)(ii)

DEE will rapidly draft up a term sheet for GBRF.

Schubert will pull together a small trusted sub group of his Board to consider with his CEO Anna Marsden and Finn.

Frydenberg and Finn now leading the discussions.

Unlikely to be any insurmountable issues. Schubert on the same wavelength as us. s47C(1) & s47E(d)

Everything needs to be kept very tight on a need to know basis in our departments. GBRF gets that also.

Timing to be resolved.

Hi S 22(1)(b)(ii)

We understand the PM and Minister Frydenberg have had the conversation with the Reef Foundation to kick off discussions around the new fund, just wanted to confirm this was correct. Interested in whether there are any key messages/insights coming out of that conversation that would be helpful as we take this forward – happy to discuss if that is easier.

Cheers

Hi S 22(1)(b)(ii)

A quick update on comms planning for the Saturday Reef event. If you have time for a quick teleconference to discuss it'd be great. I think S 22(1)(b)(ii) have a quick catch up at 4pm so we can confirm arrangements then.

S 22(1)(b)(ii) is putting together a full package for the event which will include the following comms products.

1. Video. Will be branded Reef Trust, Reef Foundation and GBRMPA. Content is cleared at this end, grateful for feedback from minister when possible.
2. Brochure. We recommend 8 pages to do the announcement justice with images and examples of the sort of work that will benefit from the announcement. When we have clearance of the text we will lay out – hoping to do that this afternoon if possible, so that we can have a final proof read Thursday before going to print. We're getting quotes for a print run of up to 1,000, with hard copies available at the event and for stakeholders, Foundation, GBRMPA, backbenchers and min corro thereafter.
3. Event location. As discussed, GBRMPA's Reef HQ would be most efficient and appropriate, with vision of live coral in the aquarium, good security and accessibility, plus support from GBRMPA staff. However if Cairns is the preferred option we can investigate alternatives to the Esplanade – we could possibly get some space at the Reef Terminal, which is where the tourist boats set off from. Need to check.
4. Event timing. Having flagged between 10am and 12pm, we're thinking 11am might be good if there is no field trip involved.
5. Event attendees. We will need to invite key partners – from GBRF, GBRMPA, the Independent Expert Panel and the RAP, and AIMS. We can do that from the Department when details are known, unless the Minister would prefer to issue the invitation himself. It would be good for optics to have other stakeholders involved who are likely to benefit from the partnership – Traditional Owners, farming reps, tourism reps etc. But given the short notice and the need for confidentiality this is probably not advisable. When we have confirmed the venue we can approach the Reef Guardian school kids to participate. Might not be possible with ANZAC Day, but still a good idea. We will leave any other MP invitations to you.
6. We'll arrange for the web team to load all the comms material on Saturday morning. We can follow up with social media on the key themes of the announcement next week.
7. The draft media release is with S who was going to revise the lead to say 'almost a billion dollars', in line with the brochure text. Joint with Minister Price?

Anything else that we haven't covered?

We're available whenever you are, if you want to follow up.

Cheers

DEE colleagues

With impending announcement this week, keen to ensure this all tracks to provide Ministers with what they need ahead of Saturday (assuming announcement is stilling going ahead then).

We will talk to our office today S 22(1)(b)(ii) and start the meeting brief. Is DEE working on TPs and draft media release? we would be keen to get those as soon as possible so it can inform a stripped down set of points for the PM and joint media release (again assuming that's what will be needed, we will check). Also – do we have a revised timeline?
