Subject: Re: Craig Kelly MP
Dear Sir / Madam,

I have still not received a reply in regards to my email about the untrue information Craig Kelly MP is posting on his Facebook page.

This has now escalated to him posting a news article from an extreme right wing group in the US which inaccurately reported that Hydroxychloroquine is a safe, effective treatment for COVID-19. Not only is this a dangerous idea to spread as Hydroxychloroquine can prolong the QT interval and lead to sudden cardiac death, but also the group that posted this article is a group which also supports the widely debunked ideas that Vaccines cause Autism, abortions cause breast cancer and HIV does not cause AIDS.

If Craig Kelly is posting this information and not being questioned or challenged by his own party in Government then it appears as if the Government supports these ideas?

Does Scott Morrison align himself with these ideas?
And if he does not then why is he not challenging Mr Kelly on this?

I would appreciate a reply.

Many Thanks

Subject: Craig Kelly MP

Dear Sir, I write to you with alarm at the messages that Craig Kelly is posting on his Facebook page.

He already goes against your government message with regard to climate change and global warming.

However, what he has been posting recently with regard to coronavirus is just plain dangerous. He is frequently calling the Coronavirus pandemic a 'hoax' and a 'scam' and telling his followers that there is a government conspiracy about the lockdown to cause a deliberate recession.

He is also posting links to inaccurate information about the severity of the coronavirus.

For instance he posted this link on the 18th May

https://www.skynews.com.au/details/\_6157176900001fbclid=IwAR2mdi9XSpN2MzeW0IClg8PzeeMakJoNpjAUwXUe2pbNxmgbkzu4NZyoWRA

All of this taken together is causing many people in his comments section to start talking about acting against government public health advice. This will lead to more morbidity and mortality and spread of this virus.

I would like to know when you are going to question Mr Kelly on this and whether you are going to pull him in line with your government message.

I look forward to hearing your reply.

Many Thanks - s 47F

JOURNALIST: On hydroxychloroquine, can I ask you both, if I might, first Professor

PRIME MINISTER: Not a subject I'm an expert in, so I'll have to leave it to the Chief Medical Officer.

JOURNALIST: Chief Medical Officer, if I could ask you, Professor, if you're happy with the current settings that prevent prescription of the drug in Australia. And Prime Minister, can I ask you if you're happy with your MP, Craig Kelly, promoting it to the point where he says Dan Andrews could be jailed because he bans the drug in Victoria?

PRIME MINISTER: I'm not going to get onto what people talk about on Facebook on a day like this but, on the medical issues, I'm happy for the Chief Medical Officer to speak to it.

PROFESSOR KELLY: So Hydroxychloroquine has been used for many, many years for various things, including for malaria prevention. I took it myself for many years when I worked in Africa, and very safe for that particular way of using that drug, and other things currently involved in terms of arthritis and other matters. But in terms of its use for this particular disease, the jury is pretty much out it doesn't work.
