THE UNITED NATIONS STANDARD PRODUCTS AND SERVICES CODES FOR THE MANDATORY MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

What are the United Nations Standard Products and Services Codes?

The United Nations standard products and services code (UNSPSC) is an open, global, multi-sector standard for efficient accurate classification of products and services for buying, selling or otherwise exchanging goods and services in the global marketplace.

The UNSPSC is used for reporting procurement activity across the Australian Government, including under the Indigenous Procurement Policy (IPP).

Why does the IPP use the global UNSPSC convention?

The UNSPSC is used by portfolios to decide whether a contract must meet mandatory minimum requirements (MMR). The mandatory minimum requirements are minimum levels of Indigenous employment and supplier use that must be met over the life of a contract.

This approach ensures First Australians gain skills and economic benefit from some of the bigger contracts awarded by the Australian Government, including in remote areas.

Which contracts do the mandatory minimum requirements apply to?

MMRs for Indigenous participation apply to new contracts delivered in Australia that are valued at $7.5 million (GST inclusive) or more, where more than half of the value of the contract is being spent in one or more of the following UNSPSC Industry sectors:

| Category ID | Full Code: Range | Description |

Where do I find the UNSPSC?

The codes can be accessed at www.unspsc.org.

Do I have to be a member to access the codes on the UNSPSC website?

No. Non-members can access codes via the 'Search-Code' tab or by downloading a free pdf list of up-to-date codes from the 'Codeset-Downloads' tab highlighted below.

How do I find the right code for my product or service?

The easiest way to find a code is to search the codeset online at <https://www.unspsc.org/search-code>.

A useful feature of the search the code function is to use “%” as a wild card. This can be used for the 'Search Code' field and 'Search Title' field.
