

The Australian Government has only just apologized to the Thalidomide Victims.

After Thalidomide, the TGA was established to prevent similar disasters.

The Australian and State governments are going to need to do more than apologise for the lack of oversight of the TGA in the provisional approval for the experimental COVID injections.

Following the results of the COVID injection trials there were serious adverse effects (GBS, Transverse Myelitis, DVT, PE etc) that were evident, and along with the Primary Care Alerts that were being issued there was enough doubt that most informed people would choose to decline a COVID injection.

APHRA was notifying medical professionals, threatening suspension to medical professionals who did not support the government narratives. Emails to warn Doctors not to recommend one brand over the other despite the totally different side effect profiles and totally different mechanisms of action. There are not meant to be inducements or rewards advertised or offered to induce someone to take a medication. Medical Conscriptation is illegal in Australia.

The Queensland government banned serology testing for COVID so people couldn't claim natural immunity. The Queensland government banned hydroxychloroquine and the Australian government banned IVM despite positive studies by reputable people such as [REDACTED]

Informed Consent is entrenched in Medical Law and Ethics. A patient needs to be competent to make a decision and be provided with the necessary information to make that decision. Then it is up to the patient to weigh up the risks and benefits of the intervention to themselves.

Informed consent law in Australia is based on Rogers vs Whittaker 1992. Every Australian should have had the right to determine that their risk of COVID was low compared to taking an experiment injection that had not been tested for middle or long-term adverse effects.

Consent must be voluntary, it cannot be coerced under the threat of losing your livelihood.

Refer to attached article "Disease and Dictatorship: the case of Hitler's Reich" for a summary of medical complicity and human experimentation. It is appalling that all Australians had their right to informed consent removed from them. There was no informed consent as no one could be given details of long-term adverse events. The adverse events from the study were hidden and some of the injections the control group was merged.

It is reckless medicine to advocate for the provision of different experimental injections to the same person. This confounds all the adverse event reporting.

The Experience at this clinic:

Among patients, rates of DVT and PE that had been steady for 21 years prior changed dramatically in 18 months. Other very rare conditions have increased in frequency.

Of our clinical staff three out of four required cardiology consults due to the experimental injections. One of four had multiple absences due to illness including multiple bouts of COVID having had multiple different experimental injections. These staff members were complying with the Mandate by the Queensland Government for the 17th December 2021. This was after the Lancet publication that clearly showed that the Pfizer injections did not stop transmission.

Personally, I had

I was not able to report my adverse events online directly to DAEN. For a year after I was ready to report the adverse effects the Qld Government was insisting on reporting through a designated Qld Health Doctor only. My Cardiologists and my GP's were not allowed to report. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] The stinks of using the system to minimise reports and hiding the data of those that do persevere to report.

Patients and Health Professionals want Informed consent back.

The State governments need to be investigated for their role in breaking federal law and taking away human rights.
